

FORE Students Win Case Study Competition at IIM-Kashipur

IIM Kashipur organised a flagship event “NEEV” on Operations Excellence followed by National level “Supply Chain Case Study competition” at its campus on November 29, 2014. The case study competition was based on Schneider Electric’s supply chain management and lean operations. Top 5 teams from various institutes around India - IIM Udaipur, FORE School Of Management, K J Somaiya, NITIE and IIM Kashipur participated in the final round of the competition.

In this case study completion, Ms. Mrinalini Murthy and Mr. Rahul John of both PGDM FMG -22 students (second year students) from FORE School of Management won the second prize of Rs. 10,000.

The case study solution was presented by our students, pointing out to a shift in operations schedule that can lead to increased production output for the required demand of products. Suggestions were also offered on how to run the operations in a leaner manner thus reducing unwanted wastages and non-value added time thus improving the entire value chain.
